Of Interest to Mankind

No announcement that THE COURIER could make to its gentlemen readers would be received with more satisfaction and pleasure than to know that a new and solid tailoring establishment has been opened in this city. Such is the case and from this on "The Baldwin Company," an incorporated organization will, so to speak, be "strictly in it" when fine tailoring is in demand. The Baldwin company was organized last week and has in its members some of our best known and wealthiest citizens. F. W. Baldwin is the president, W. L. Dayton, vice president, Mattson H. Baldwin secretary and treasurer, and W. S. Huffman manager. The company has purchased the stock, good will and fixtures of Mr. George W. Fischer and retained him for the position of designer and cutter.

The company, like its predecessor, expects to cater to the finest trade both here and throughout the state, but will also be equally well prepared to handle the popular run of patronage that seeks desirable custom made garments at a medium price. To meet this demand "The Baldwin Company" will have an extensive line of woolsens that it will be prepared to make up at prices within the reach of all. They will receive the same particular care and attention that is given the highest priced work and will be turned out with a snug fit and otherwise thoroughly in keeping with the reputation established by Mr. Huffman and sustained by Mr. Fischer.

The company is the strongest, financially, in the state and having ample capital, combined with the most experienced management and every facility at hand to conduct a successful tailoring business, it goes without saying that "The Baldwin Company" will become popular from the start and is certainly worthy of every consideration of all Lincolnites.

The Columbia Tailoring Co. Reopened.

Hundreds of people that frequent O street were somewhat surprised Tuesday morning to find that the well-known Columbia Tailoring Co. had reopened. The windows had been handsomely rearranged and the interior of the store was in as neat and artistic trim as ever before. A COURIER reporter somewhat inquisitive as to the sudden change in affairs stepped in and had a talk with Manager Sanderson, who soon convinced the writer that the Columbia Tailoring Co. was by no means a thing of the past in Lincoln, but fully abreast of the times with a large and magnificent new line of woolsens on hand. "You can say to your readers," said Mr. Sanderson, "that every inch of the old stock has been taken out and that all the goods you see here are entirely new and of the 1893 patterns. Besides this I am expecting, at any time now, a large line of the very finest worsteds and other superior grades of pantaloons and suitings and they ought to be here now. This line when all in will represent the noblest and most complete line of artistic patterns and materials ever shown in Lincoln."

The goods now in were just being arranged and from present indications the Columbia people will certainly continue to do a rushing business. The store located at 1134-36 O street is the largest of its kind in the city and with such methods and prices as the firm employs, will get a big share of trade.

A New Dry Goods Emporium.

Lincoln ladies are ever on the alert for something new and for anything that will bring them new and pretty things to adorn their stylish figures. Therefore the announcement that another new dry goods store is about to open will be of special interest to each and every one of the readers of the COURIER's big feminine family. The name of the new applicant for the public's favors is Mr. E. C. Robertson and the new location is at 11th and N streets, in the store recently vacated by McArthur & Son, druggists. The store, which is a large and handsome one, will be the lightest in the city, while the stock is one of the largest and most varied that Lincoln now contains. The opening occurs Monday and doubtless the ladies will all be present.

Notice.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will not be responsible for no pay, any debt incurred by employers, except those for which an order is given personally signed by him. This rule is imperative. L. WENSEL, JR. LINCOLN, NEB., Feb. 20, 1893.

It is to be regretted that the capitalists of Lincoln cannot find confidence sufficient to enable them to put the West Lincoln packing houses in active operation. One of them has been operated on a small scale during the past two years and the gentlemen who have conducted the business have made it profitable. Their investment has realized a handsome dividend. With greater capital the proportion of profit would have been even greater. The chances are, however, that unless there is material decrease in the price of hogs, there will not be so much packing done at west Lincoln during the coming year as there was during last, as it will take a much heavier capital to do the same amount of work, and the chances of realizing is not so great. It has never yet been explained so clearly that all can see, why, while heavy packing operations can be profitably carried on at South Omaha, Sioux City, Kansas City and other adjacent points, two immense packing houses and their adjoining stock yards, representing a heavy investment of capital, can profitably be allowed to remain idle in West Lincoln.

Mr. O. A. Mohrenstecher of H. Herpolsheimer & Co., has just returned from New York where he secured a most elegant line of dress goods and silks for the popular Exposition stores.

Mr. M. A. Newmark, the Globe clothing, has returned from St. Louis. Mrs. M. Well, after spending a short but delightful visit with Holton, Kas., relatives, returned Wednesday.

Secretary Jordan of the Lincoln Printing Co. is rejoicing over the advent of a bright new baby at his home.

Mrs. C. D. Pitcher gives a dinner party this afternoon in honor of her sister Miss Mary Pitcher of Ithica, New York.

Mr. Max Kohn of the firm Block & Kohn left Wednesday for New York to purchase additional spring stock for the Progressive dry goods emporium.

Mr. D. Goldberg, after spending a pleasant visit with Chicago relations, is once more at home. He reports the Chicago store of the firm of D. Wise & Co. as prosperous and very busy.

Miss Bell and Miss Clara Bell, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Childster for the past two weeks, returned to their home in Chicago, Monday. Miss Bell has a book in print by Harper Bros. that will be issued about March 1, 1893.

Misses Jennie and Nellie Fisher, two young ladies of Denver who have been visiting Miss Naomi Weaver for the past five weeks, left Wednesday for the south, where they will spend some time visiting. Miss Weaver accompanied them as far as Omaha.

Happy Harry Hall—and all on account of a visitor, an after dinner orator that arrived at his home at 1 p. m. Tuesday. Its a female of the handsomest type, is hale and hearty and all hands around the Hall residence are jubilant. Mrs. Hall and baby are prospering finely.

About the silliest thing the council has attempted lately is the regulation of the financial affairs of city employees by requiring the latter to pay their debts. It is well enough for the council to insist that city employees shall be honest and above suspicion, but even such a requirement is often more than the people have exacted of them in their own behalf. It is sad to reflect that some of the very men who are so zealous to see employees pay their debts are not always free from suspicion.

A very pleasant surprise was arranged by Mrs. C. F. Barras at their residence, 1445 E street Tuesday evening, the occasion being in honor of Mr. Barras' birthday. As usual Mr. Barras had been invited out and a more complete surprise never awaited man on an occasion of this character. Cards was the source of amusement of the evening, followed by a most delicious collation served at the card tables. The following friends and relatives were present: Messrs. and Mesdames J. A. Conger, O. J. Wilcox, J. J. Walters, Lane Walters, John Leister, Dr. Chase, and Misses Meriam Houseworth, Mary Milburn, Eva Bonas, Mrs. Auntie Uhl and Messrs. J. M. Elliott, E. I. Barras, Master Chas. Barras.

NEBRASKA'S OWN FOOD PRODUCTS.

The Quail Brand of Cereals Take a Front Seat at the Manufacturers' Winter Carnival This Week.

The throng of city and state visitors at the Manufacturers' Home Patronage Carnival this week have had sufficient cause to feel proud of this great state and of the products of its excellent soil. The goods turned out by the Nebraska City Cereal mills were exhibited on the lower floor, while on the third floor the W. C. A. ladies were freely dispensing the several delicious viands. The company has made a wonderful reputation in a comparatively short time on their well-known Quail brand of parched rolled oats, velvet meal, corn grits and self-raising griddle-cake flour, the merits of each being well established throughout the west and as far east as Chicago.

The mills, located at Nebraska City, are the largest in the state and their daily output runs up into the hundreds of barrels and thousands of packages. The cereals are all home grown and the mills are entirely owned and controlled by home capital, the gentlemen interested having put all energy and faith in these goods and the results have exceeded their every anticipation. Quail brand cereals are no longer an experiment, but a staple commodity in the culinary department of every house, home, restaurant and hotel. The demand everywhere has been enormous and all grocers have been compelled to keep a line of "Quail" goods.

Closing to a successful week's exhibition the company will exhibit their products today at the popular new grocery of Miller & Gifford, 1217 O street, opposite the Burr block, and at C. H. Rohman's grocery, 1033 O street, where cooks will be found to show the merit of the goods, how they are made and how economical they are used. Ladies of Lincoln are all invited to call and see a demonstration of Nebraska goods made by Nebraska men and cooked by Nebraska ladies.

It is now stated for publication by no less a personage than C. W. Mosher himself that the movement whereby his relatives were to put up $190,000 to secure his release has fallen through, and it looks as if Mosher must face his misdeeds before the bar of worldly justice. There was a sensational scare the middle of the week because of a rumor that Mosher was likely to quietly pull out some dark night for Australia, which he could easily do, as no one ever sees him outside his own elegant home, and few even there, and he would not probably be missed for some time. But Mosher denies that he has any such intention, and says that he has had plenty of opportunities to escape if he so desired. He doesn't want to go. He is determined to face the music and take his medicine.
